

Deck-Max™ Marine 295

Deck-Max™ - Marine 295

Pontoon builders, marina owners, contractors and end clients across the globe choose Marine 295 deck for their marine projects. Here's why:

Marine Deck has an attractive natural appearance and is made from hard-wearing Embossed composite timber (also known as WPC).

WPC is the ideal alternative to traditional wood which requires NO staining or painting to maintain its original appearance. Further, Marine Deck features a very low absorption rate which means that its strength is retained over its life cycle.

Our unique Composite Timber formula produces an extremely durable Embossed decking that is environmentally friendly, easy to install and requires minimal maintenance.

Marine Deck is available in 295mm & 146mm wide boards to suit various budgets and project requirements. Joist centres can be max 450mm and insert additional joist to suit 2900mm long boards on minimum 45mm wide joist.

Marine 295 & 146 is harder than capped composite boards.

Our narrower boards (146mm) have a similar OAK texture but does not include the reversible grid pattern as seen on the 295 Marine board, and looks very natural ideally suited to Pool Surrounds and other general decking areas.

However, if your priority is maximising the speed of installation or span capability then our double width board (Marine 295) may be more suitable. Marine 295 Deck-Max composite timber boards are reversible to allow the installer to choose from two attractive finishes.

Deck-Max Marine 295 boards are reversible, with a 10 year warranty, and suit most pontoon structures.
